

TOUR ATTENDEES IDENTIFICATION INFORMATION

The REAL ID Act, passed by Congress in 2005, enacted the 9/11 Commission's recommendation that the Federal Government "set standards for the issuance of sources of identification, such as driver's licenses." The Act established minimum security standards for license issuance and production and prohibits Federal agencies from accepting for certain purposes driver's licenses and identification cards from states not meeting the Act's minimum standards. The purposes covered by the Act are: accessing Federal facilities, entering nuclear power plants, and, no sooner than 2016, boarding federally regulated commercial aircraft.

The States and Territories that are currently non-compliant or without an extension include:

- American Samoa
- Illinois
- Minnesota+
- Missouri
- Washington+

+ Federal officials may continue to accept Enhanced Driver's Licenses from these states.

Consequently, people attending the tours from Illinois, Missouri and American Samoa will have to bring another form of identification in addition to their driver's license. The secondary identity source document may be from the following list. If the tour attendee does not have a driver's license they are required to bring two forms of identification from the following list:
